

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE B-2

THE WASHINGTON POST
8 December 1976

STAT

Personalities

Lionel Hampton and a 12-piece band played for an hour at lunchtime yesterday at CIA headquarters in Langley. George Bush, CIA director, made the introductions and called band-leader Hampton "an old friend." The usually sedate CIA crowd clapped and chanted right along when Hampton launched into numbers like "Hey Babarebop." No official explanation was given for the announced concert. It concluded with everybody singing as Hampton's band played "God Bless America."

—Jacqueline Trescott